INTERNATIONAL GENEALOGICAL RESEARCH DIRECTORY 1981-2007

Compiled by K. Johnson & M. Sainty

The GRD (Genealogical Research Directory) was for many years the major reference guide for beginning genealogists. It was in fact genealogy social networking long before there was such a thing as online forums, Facebook and Twitter etc. In all:

- 28 volumes were published annually from 1981 to 2007 (2 vols in 1981)
- in 23,700 pages
- listing 2.7 million names being researched
- from 170,000 contributors in 25 or more countries

In addition to names being researched the GRDs include feature articles, maps of the counties and other relevant divisions in various countries, general subject being researched, One Name studies, directories of societies, Subject Entries, Contributors (Address, Telephone, Fax and Email Numbers), One Name Studies, List of Genealogical Societies, Archives, Major Libraries and Record Offices, Professional Services Index and More Maps. Please note that there was some duplication over the years and some of the contacts will no longer be valid. But these 28 GRD volumes represent a vast body of surname and other research interests which continue to have great value to researchers. They are now offered for the first time as a complete collection—in two parts.

Historical Records of Australia - Series 1

Full set of 26 volumes on CD AU0050 —$249.50
each of the 26 volumes is also available separately

The official 'Historical Records of Australia' were collected and published by the Library Committee of the Commonwealth Parliament in order to create a series of historically accurate publications on the history of Australia, beginning in 1788, the year the settlement at Port Jackson was founded.

The first series of the Historical Records, published from 1914-1925, contains despatches from the Governors, who were in charge of the Crown Colonies, to the authorities in England. These despatches included detailed reports on many subjects of major minor importance. Some of the things to be found in this series: arrivals of ships, convict records, correspondence, promotions, petitions, rations, embarkation, appointments and much more.

This fully searchable CD set contains all 26 volumes in Series 1 Historical Records of Australia, on 2 CDs. They contain high quality scanned images of the complete original books. The CDs have been bookmarked for easy navigation, and pages can be searched, browsed, enlarged and printed out if required.

Government Gazettes on CD-ROM

Police Gazettes

Police gazettes differ from government gazettes in that they are not available to the public for some time after publication. See table for restricted periods on page 7. They were a confidential record of police activities, reports and information – details that would not be found in the more publicly accessible government gazettes.

Information on crimes committed—where, victims of the crime, information or evidence that may lead to an arrest, the appearance of the criminal and who to contact with further information. Often includes names and detailed descriptions.

Information regarding criminals—warrants, arrests, convictions, people discharged from prison or released on good behaviour bonds. Often includes details of the crime, any alias's, race, location, sentence and terms of release. May include the appearance of the criminal including height, hair colour, eye colour, any distinguishing features, clothing, place, ships and sometimes photographs.

Notice of missing persons

—missing family or friends, but also anyone who someone wanted to find. Information such as the missing person's description and appearance is given, the nature and time of the disappearance, their supposed destination, last known or supposed whereabouts.

Official police department information—promotions, dismissals, resignations and appointments are given with information on position, place, and name. Also Justice of the Peace and inspectors.

Other related government department information—appointments, promotions & resignations.

Notice of licences—Licences of various types and lists of those holding them are given, with name, date, location for the licences.

Information from police gazettes from other states & NZ—regarding particular criminals, crimes, or missing persons.

Map Reproductions—England, Ireland & Scotland

County Series England — a series of magnificent county maps produced by Thomas Moule between the 1830s-1840s. Moule's maps are attractive and clearly printed. They are highly collectable for their attractive and distinctive appearance and the fine quality of the engraved detail. each map $7.00

County Series Ireland — a series covering each Irish county, originally by P.W. Joyce in the late 19th C. These reprints are black on high quality cream coloured parchment paper, and the map identifies the baronies, towns, villages, railroads, canals, large estates as well as "great houses". each map $7.00

County Series Scotland — a series covering each Scottish county, originally by John Bartholomew in the late 19th C. Similar to Irish series each map $6.00

Large County Map Series England — by T. Moule between the 1830s-1840s. In full colour these maps are a ideal for framing, and at 38cmx50cm they are large enough to read the place names. each map $7.00

All the maps are flat. The two English series are in colour. Except for the large English series they are approx. 22x28cm. The large ones for England will be sent rolled up in a tube. The small maps are normally stocked. The large ones for England will be obtained as required — allow 2-4 weeks.

Google is the most powerful tool available worldwide for on-line research! With over 20 billion pages in Google's index of the Web, it's likely that some of them contain clues about your ancestors. Finding these pages, however, requires an understanding of filtering and other techniques that have never been explained to many computer users — until now!

This book shows you how to tap the full potential of the Internet's most powerful free online service!

This book explains how to use the many powerful capabilities contained within Google to jumpstart a family history search - and does so in simple, easy-to-understand language.

This book teaches you how to:

- * Use Basic and Advanced search operators to filter results
- * Find published information about your family history using dozens of powerful techniques
- * Discover visuals to help illustrate your family story using Google Images and Video
- * Explore your ancestral homeland - from countryside to neighbourhood - with Google Maps and Google Earth
- * Conduct research in historical newspapers using Google News Archive
- * Set up automated searches using Google Alerts
- * Use Language Tools to find and translate foreign content
- * Make the most of the top free websites for genealogy

"If you think you know how to search the Internet, think again. This book takes using Google to a whole new level ... and guarantees users of all ages and experience will learn from it"

Film and Book Scanners

BONUS 10% DISCOUNT VOUCHER with all scanners (for use on a further order)

OpticFilm 7200 Film/Slide Scanner

FVE002 $359.00

OpticFilm 7200i Film/Slide Scanner

FVE003 $499.00

These two OpticFilm scanners are great value and perfect for digitising your old 35mm slides or negatives. Nothing else as good is available near this price.

- high quality scans at up to 7200 dpi (higher than you will ever need)
- for the first time a specialist slide/film scanner at an affordable price
- Superb world class SilverFast scanning software included.

Both scanners are very similar. If your slides or negatives are clean you will never need the extra capability of the 7200i. If they do have dust and scratches the 7200i adds extra hardware and software capability to reduce this — worth every bit of the extra $140

OpticBook 3600 Plus A4 Book Scanner

FVE005 $459.00

Like its larger sibling below this is a great scanner at a great price, but more suited to societies and libraries with smaller budget and scanning needs - and less need of A3.

- no annoying book spine shadow and no distorted lines of text.
- no damage or pressure on the book spine.
- scan close to book spine
- scan as bitone, grey or colour at touch of a button
- scan to file, printer or email
- special book scanning software included
- OCR software included

Especially suited to smaller libraries, societies, organisations and individuals who scan or photocopy books

OpticBook A300 A3 Book Scanner

PRS003 $2299.00

Unmatched capability at this price. We were so impressed when we saw this scanner announced we bought the first three to come to Australia - for our own book scanning requirements. It has more than lived up to its promise. Every library and medium to large society could derive great benefit from this scanner.

- Fast — scans an A3 page in 2.4 seconds
- Libraries & Societies—protect your books when copying/scanning
- Perfect 2mm book-edge design for scanning books
- Scan to image, PDF or advanced OCR software to convert page images to text
- One-touch buttons design for scanning convenience
- ideal solution for libraries, societies schools, graphic designers, publishing companies, hospitals, law firms and financial institutions.
